Position Summary The Department of Civil, Structural and Environmental Engineering (CSEE) at University at Buffalo (UB) invites candidates to apply for the position of Assistant Professor of Practice (Lecturer). We are looking for candidates who can operate effectively in a team environment within a diverse community of students and faculty and who share our vision of helping all constituents reach their full potential. Candidates are expected to have excellent communication, interpersonal, and organizational skills.

Duties may include teaching and development of courses at both the undergraduate and graduate level; service which may include student advisement at the undergraduate and graduate level; industry internships; laboratory and instrumentation upgrades; student excellence initiatives; ABET objectives; diversity enhancement; and external educational grant support in collaboration with the CSEE Undergraduate and Graduate Studies Committees. We are particularly interested in candidates who have expertise to teach courses in construction management, engineering sustainability, or other related fields.

The UB CSEE department has a long history of education and scholarship, offering B.S., M.S., Ph.D., and combined degrees in civil engineering and environmental/water resources engineering. The department also offers an Advanced Certificate in Bridge Engineering and leads the Engineering Science M.S. program in engineering sustainability. Please see www.csee.buffalo.edu for more information about the department.

The University at Buffalo (UB), a member of the prestigious Association of American Universities (AAU), is the largest and most comprehensive university in The State University of New York (SUNY) system, with about 22,000 undergraduates and 10,000 graduate and professional students and 1600 fulltime faculty. The School of Engineering and Applied Sciences has 7,300 students enrolled across 9 academic departments.

Buffalo is a city with a rapidly growing economy, eclectic neighborhoods, world-class art galleries and museums, a vibrant theater and music community, the Lake Erie waterfront, a city-wide system of parks designed by renowned landscape architect Frederick Law Olmsted, and major and minor league sports teams. The awe-inspiring Niagara Falls is just 20 minutes away. The department is located on the UB North Campus in suburban Amherst, an area that combines outstanding public schools and services with a surprisingly low cost-of-living.

The University at Buffalo is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer (AA/EOE). Note: This tagline is required per the UB Recruitment Policy and normally added by UB-HRS.

Minimum Qualifications	Applicants should have a Master's degree in engineering or related field and appropriate work experience.
Preferred Qualifications	Professional Engineering (PE) licensure; at least ten years of work experience with increasing responsibility in construction management, engineering sustainability, or related fields; or a PhD degree in engineering or related field.
