What occurs in Graduate Teaching Community (GTC) meetings?

GTC meetings are informal, discussion-based gatherings geared toward enhancing the teaching skills of graduate student instructors. Every meeting begins with a check-in from participants about their teaching practices and classroom experiences, followed by a presentation on evidence-based teaching and learning strategies facilitated by GTC participants.

What are the benefits of joining the Graduate Teaching Community?

Participants gain confidence in the classroom and a deeper understanding of learner-centered, inclusive teaching practices. Participation in the Graduate Teaching Community is also a great feature to include on a CV to demonstrate professional development in teaching. Participants will receive a certificate of participation by a required number of sessions, facilitating an informal discussion on a teaching and/or learning topic of their choice, and writing a brief summary of the facilitated discussion.
